WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 14, 1877.

A NEW POLICY, AND WHAT FOLLOWS.

We greatly fear it will no longer be possible to enforce "party discipline." There is no less a person than President Hayes who offers a premium for insubordination. That pestilent fellow, Schurz, who is a "bolter" by instinct, and who never supports "the party" unless he thinks fit to do so, is given one of the highest positions at the disposal of a Republican administration. Schurz is one of that sort who habitually set up their own judgment against the decisions of caucuses and conventions, and refuse to be bound by the "usages of the party" further than the thing they call "private conscience," or the "right of private judgment," will allow; and Evarts is but little, if any, better. When such men are taken into the cabinet, what is it but to encourage the crime of "bolting" and disorganization generally? Nor is this all. For another of the cabinet positions we have Key, a "Confederate brigadier," and, until a few days ago, a Democratic Senator from Tennessee. And it is this "unrepentant rebel" who is to lord it over the loyal postmasters and mail agents, who are the hope and the pride of the party that supposed it had a mission to "make treason odious!" And the faithful marshals and district attorneys are handed over to the tender mercies of a Democratic Attorney General. These sudden changes have nearly taken away the breath of loyal office-holders and expectants; but they are equal to the emergency. In a moment they recover the use of their lungs, and exclaim that the action of the President is both "patriotic" and "wise." They are ready to swear that the animal in either a weasel or a whale, or both, just as President Hayes may desire. But things, indeed, have come to a pretty pass when "loyalty to the party" is no longer the test of fitness for place! Soon the inevitable corollary will follow that personal fidelity to Senators will not afford assurance of reward. And then "the party" will suffer untold calamities. What clique or cabal will set up jobs in the name of "the party" or kindly attend to party affairs generally, so as to relieve the people of the burden, if matters go on at this rate? It is terribly disheartening to those whose principles are limited to the five loaves and two fishes. The Senators whose sole idea of politics is spoils, have made haste to agree with the new policy; they are not the men to quarrel with the appointing power. They think it is too sweet to the taste, but no one who knows them and their methods will doubt that it is as bitter to the belly as the apocalyptist's little book. How now will they be able to hold the terrors of party excommunication over those who, for reasons sufficient to themselves, have "bolted" heretofore, and who likewise may do it again? The divine right to "bolt" and "scratch" now has the sanction of the highest Republican authority. In future elections this may be fruitful of consequences. The machine politicians, although some of them profess to like what Hayes has done, clearly foresee what it means to. When Senators and others, who do not deserve re-election, press their "claims" upon their party and find individual or combined opposition too strong, in dependent action, there will be no whip heavy enough to lash, even the base rascals of the dissidents, into submission. "Bolting" is ennobled, dignified and vindicated. Those independents can, through a storm of obloquy, know once what they conceived to be right, maybe well satisfied and may take courage. Party is henceforth an instrument of no use. When citizens find themselves unable to use it as a means to right wrongs which they deem important to the public welfare, it is their right to discard it; and this doctrine is held by multitudes of the best Republicans of the country. President Hayes shows that he recognizes it when he calls such men as Schurz and Evarts into his Cabinet.

THE MOUND BUILDERS.

At a recent meeting of the archæological section of the Chicago Academy of Science, there was an interesting discussion of the literature, arts, commerce and religion of the ancient mound builders. Dr. Edmund Andrews, the chairman of the meeting, remarked that recent discoveries proved this race whose history is lost, to have made considerable advancement in civilization. The first discovery of the kind which came to the speaker's notice was of a mound in Tennessee, discovered by the soldiers. It was 100 feet wide and 20 feet long, and contained various ancient sacrificial implements. Another was a mound near Rockford, Ill. The third, discovered this winter, was near Davenport, Iowa. The last mound contained engraved stones, a sacred sword deposited with the dead in the tomb. The sculptured figures represent mounds, a sacrificial scene in which three human beings are offered up to the Mound Builders' God, the sun, the moon, the stars, arches, human figures, inscriptions, and other characters pertaining to the religious rite. On the opposite side of one of the stones was a representation of the "happy hunting grounds." The discovery of the stones opens a new era in American archæology. In future, he thinks, the inscriptions on the stones will be studied, and as they multiply they may be deciphered and translated into English.

Mr. H. N. Rust, who is regarded as one of the most pains-taking students in archæological science, described a mound near New Madrid, Mo., which he visited, and from which he obtained some valuable specimens of pottery. From this place he went to a cypress-covered swamp lying between New Madrid and Cape Girardeau, where, in a field, he found two mounds, and where the inhabitants told him were many more. One was fifteen feet high and seventy-five feet in diameter, and had the form of a truncated pyramid. On it were beds of ashes and many fragments of pottery. About fifty feet south of this was found a grave where many hundred bodies had been buried. Mounds and graves of less size were also found in that neighborhood. In the graves the bodies were found in a horizontal position, and about the heads were pieces of pottery. The bones of the bodies could not, except in rare instances, be saved, so decomposed were they. The most common form of the pottery found was the water jug, or pitcher, and the most curious have the human form. Other specimens were found having the shapes of fishes, gourds, melons, ducks, owls and salt-water clams. Some of these had been colored. The colors had almost faded away, but long continued exposure to the light and air was bringing out the chromatic work again. He also found spades, hatchets and knives, but almost no arrow or spear heads or axes. These implements were of flint or other stone, and were in some instances finely polished. A large number of smaller trinkets, such as pipes, awls and needles, were also found.

It is supposed by many that Ben Hill is the author of the celebrated phrase, "Invincible in peace, invisible in war," lately used by him in the House of Representatives. This is an error. The author was that wit so well known to many in Oregon some years ago, namely, Captain George H. Derby, usually called by his nom de plume, "John Phœnix." At a public dinner of the State militia at San Francisco he gave as a toast, "The California militia; invincible in peace, invisible in war." The occasion made it a first-class witticism. Ben Hill's recent use of it, however, was exceedingly apt, and it lost nothing by his application of it.

The Legislature of Montana Territory recently passed an act declaring county assessors ineligible for more than one term. This seems to us an unwise measure as a man who has performed the duties of this office for one, two or more years if honest and capable ought certainly to be able to perform those duties more acceptably to the taxpayers than one who has not the knowledge in such things which experience alone can give. One term is too many for any incompetent or unfaithful official, but there can be no reasonable objections to a second or third term for one who serves the people well.

We fear Oregon has small chance of being honored with the appointment of Ben Simpson to the office of Commissioner of Indian Affairs. Hayes, with his perverse and unprecedented ideas of civil service, seems disposed to stick to the present commissioner, and to justify his partiality by the unheard-of plea that he is a good man and, therefore, should remain.

No sentence of death has been executed in Belgium since 1862. Commutation to penal servitude for life, of which part may be subsequently remitted, has been the course invariably followed. A recent great increase in crimes of violence of the worst kind has given occasion for bringing the subject again before the chamber.

The Singer Manufacturing Co. report their sales for the year 1876 at 262,946 Machines, being an excess of 12,404 machines over their sales of 1875.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 14, 1877.

CITY.

IN LONDON.—Mr. J. Mortimer Murphy, who is so well known in this city and throughout Oregon and Washington Territory, is sojourning in London at present. Mr. Murphy was formerly connected with the editorial staff of the Daily Herald, and subsequently with that of the Bulletin. He also prepared, several years since, an extensive Business Directory of the Northwest coast, and gave a very graphic description of this State—climate, soil, mineral resources, and its general geographical and commercial features, which elicited much complimentary comment from the press. Mr. Murphy is engaged in literary pursuits, corresponding with a number of journals, and occasionally contributing articles for the periodicals. In Appleton's for January appears an article from his pen, entitled "The Waterfalls of the Northwest," which he has prepared in a popular form, for the Geological Society of London, "On the Distribution and Character of the Fauna of North-western America," and also another for the Anthropological society on the "Esquimaux of the Northwest Pacific." During the coming spring and summer Mr. Murphy expects to make an extensive tour through the Continent of Europe, travelling correspondent. He will return to New York next fall.

ANDREW HILL.—He whose name heads this brief notice has passed away from earth. After many weary months of suffering he departed this life at Albany on Tuesday morning last. Deceased was highly esteemed in Albany society, and was universally known, and few dying men have left behind more sincere friends, or a more widely spread circle of true mourners. During his sickness he was entrusted with large sums of money to lend private business, and he always gave his trusts more honestly or more faithfully. He was courteous and kind to his friends, affectionate to his family, and well deserved and his untimely loss will be deplored by a wide circle of acquaintances. He was known by many in many other parts of Oregon.

LOST.—A few days since, a red and white cow, belonging to C. H. Lewis, strayed from the ranches in the upper end of the city. She is badly injured through the pulling off of four young calves. Any one finding the animal on the road and bringing her off and bringing her to the ranches will be liberally rewarded. She is also missed by the children, which caused the little fellows to leap over the fence, which annoyed by the strangers. Young children should not be allowed to go beyond the fence of the premises, as the animal was crippled in the hind legs by the prick of the fall. Mr. Warren is determined to retain the name of the animal, and will punish any one who destroys it. It is a piece of wanton vandalism to kill the animal, and we trust that no one will break from now on.

The Daily Oregonian will be issued every morning, Sundays excepted, from the office of publication, on Second street, between Yamhill and Taylor streets, in the city of Portland, Oregon, and delivered to subscribers in the city at 15 cents per week, or $6 per year, in advance; $3 for six months; $1 50 for three months; $1 for one month. Single copies, 5 cents. Subscriptions may be sent by mail, or left at the office, or with the carriers. Advertisements will be inserted at the rate of $1 per square for the first insertion, and 50 cents per square for each subsequent insertion. Yearly advertisements will be taken at the rate of $10 per square per year. Business notices, 25 cents per line for each insertion. Obituaries, notices of meetings, and resolutions of societies, will be charged as advertisements. Communications will not be published unless accompanied by the name of the author, which will be required as a guarantee of good faith, but not necessarily for publication. Rejected communications will not be returned unless the necessary postage is inclosed for that purpose. Letters and communications should be addressed to the Oregonian, Portland, Oregon.

ANOTHER LIVELY.—A few days since, Mr. Andrew Kerr, who resides on the Upper Macadam road, lost a cow, belonging to C. H. Lewis, which strayed from the premises in the direction of the residence of Mr. Kerr. Mr. Kerr's children, while playing in the road, were nearly injured through the cow coming in contact with them. The cow was pursued by a number of four young boys, who, in their excitement, ran after the animal on to the Kerr premises. The cow was finally driven off by the boys, which caused the little fellows to leap over the fence, which annoyed by the strangers. Young children should not be allowed to go beyond the fence of the premises, as the animal was crippled in the hind legs by the prick of the fall. Mr. Warren is determined to retain the name of the animal, and will punish any one who destroys it. It is a piece of wanton vandalism to kill the animal, and we trust that no one will break from now on.

CITY.

Mr. J. Mortimer Murphy, who is well known in this city and throughout Oregon and Washington Territory, is sojourning in London at present. He also prepared, several years ago, an exhaustive Business Directory of the Pacific Coast, and gave a very graphic description of this State—climate, soil, mineral resources, general geographical features, etc., which elicited much complimentary comment at the time. In Appleton's Journal appears an article from his pen, entitled "Waterfalls of the Northwest." Mr. Murphy has also prepared a paper for the Geological Society of London, "On the Distinguishing Character of the Fauna of North-western America," and also another for a similar society on the "Edible Fishes of the Pacific." During the coming spring Mr. Murphy expects to make an extended tour through the continent as a tourist and resident. He expects to return to San Francisco next fall.

DEATH.—He whose name heads this paragraph passed away from earth. After a long illness he departed this life on Tuesday morning. Albany on Tuesday morning. Many young men who have grown up in society, none were more highly esteemed, and few dying would leave behind more friends, or be mourned more sincerely. During his residence in this city he was connected with a great deal of the public business, and no man ever performed his duties more honestly or faithfully. His friends, affectionate to his memory, and kind to all, his death is mourned, and his virtues long be remembered by a wide circle of acquaintances and friends in other parts of the State.

ACCIDENT.—A few days ago a valuable dog belonging to C. G. Warren, residing at the upper end of the city, was killed through the malicious contrivance of some hoodlums. These boys enticed the dog to the First street bridge, threw him off and frightening her, caused her to run over the railing into the river below the structure. From the bridge to the sand is about 15 feet, and the dog struck in the hind legs by the fall. Mr. Warren is not able to name any of the perpetrators of the cowardism, or he would punish the fullest extent of the law.

LOST.—Mr. Warren.—Mr. E. S. Warren, the following note which explains itself: "If the cowardly insulting remarks as to a lady on the west street near Madison, and also another for a similar insult with a lady, and also face, can by any possibility have the courage to act like a man to my satisfaction, I will answer with a thrashing as a man and to help him in the dirty scoop so low as to notice it. I did not pretend to be remarking far above his level."

E. Church next Sunday evening.

ACCIDENT.—The east side railroad track was under water yesterday between the City and Clackamas bridge. Mr. Byron R. Cardwell, who is connected with the office of the Avenue, has just recovered from a painful attack of inflammation. Mr. Cardwell was confined to his room for nearly two months. He will be gratified to learn of his recovery.

FIRE.—About half past eight o'clock yesterday morning an alarm of fire was turned in from box on the corner of North Eighth and Davis streets. The fire was caused from a defective flue in the residence of E. Baum, and was extinguished by a few buckets of water before the department reached the scene.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

A goodly number of persons assembled at Scandinavian Hall last evening and while away several hours in dancing. The affair may be classed with the best of the season, as all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the time, which is saying a great deal for any entertainment of the kind.

Madame Michelet, the widow of the eminent historian, announces that instead of erecting a monument over her husband's grave in Pere La Chaise, she proposes to furnish the arid and rather dismal cemetery with the fountains lacking there, so that plants and flowers will grow above the graves, as they do not now. She has obtained permission to have the fountains erected, and has decided them to the cemetery forever. Her idea, she says, is largely due to the attention which her husband paid to the desolate cemetery of Pere La Chaise when he was living. He went also daily for ten years to the tomb of a friend there. So the old cemetery where Abelard and Heloise, where Molière and La Fontaine sleep, is like to be brightened up and beautified.

The new rules at the Boston public library reduce the time for which books may be drawn out from four to three weeks, and a renewal is necessary at the end of the first week. Books which have not been in the library six months cannot be kept longer than a week. The new regulations will undoubtedly enlarge the circle of readers and quicken the circulation of new volumes. The rapid transit of books from hand to hand has, however, its disadvantages. It promotes habits of skimming and superficial study. American readers, as a rule, know a very little about a great many things, instead of a good deal about a few things, and the circulating libraries are largely responsible for the tendency.

The most ingenious invention—Dr. Warner's Duplex Supporter. Third street, near Morrison. Mrs. Warner, 14, 15.

None but clean, first-class materials used, and work just as represented. He can and will do good work at moderate charges. Give him a trial.

NOTES FROM THE DALLES.

Our occasional correspondent writing from the above point under date of March 13th, sends the following:

Miss Velina Nesmith, daughter of ex-Senator Nesmith, is visiting friends in our city.

The Keeler Family of Royal Wonder Workers, are billed for Wednesday evening, the 14th.

Business in the city is increasing as the spring opens, and our merchants are correspondingly happy.

H. U. Myers, Esq., of Umatilla, is visiting his daughter in this city, and is the guest of Col. John T. Storrs.

We have two debating societies in the city in a promising condition, preparing our young lawyers for the halls of Congress.

The infant child of P. W. French, of this city, is very low with inflammation of the lungs and not expected to recover.

The New Umatilla House, Messrs. Handley & Sinnott proprietors, is doing a thriving business, the house being constantly crowded.

The Georgia Minstrels re-formed here Monday evening, to a good house, on their return from Walla Walla. They leave for your city Tuesday morning.

J. B. Huntington and James Embree, Esqs., are registered at the Umatilla House on their way to their farms in Yakima county, W. T., with blooded stock.

One hundred head of beef cattle left Monday morning on the Idaho for the Portland market, shipped by Messrs. Andrews & Paxson, cattle buyers of this city.

Lieut. Duncan, from Fort Vancouver, passed through our city on Saturday morning last with ten recruits for Company H, 23d Infantry, stationed at Walla Walla.

Gen. O. O. Howard, Col. John M. Wilson and Capt. Babbitt, U. S. A., were registered at the Umatilla House on Friday last on their way from Portland to Walla Walla.

Mr. C. A. Nissimer, who has been located in our city for the past two years copying and enlarging photographs, left on Monday last intending to make Olympia, W. T., his future home.

We were reminded that old winter had not left us last Friday morning by seven inches of snow, which rapidly disappeared through the day, through the influence of a friendly chinook wind.

Mr. Benjamin Snipes, the cattle king of Eastern Washington is the happiest man in our community, cause, "a boy." The familiar salutation of "Ben," is gentlemen name your "drugs."

The gentlemanly register and receiver at the U. S. land office informed me that this section of the State is rapidly filling up with permanent settlers, and there are constant applications for land.

Madam Urso and concert company are billed in our city for Friday evening, the 16th. This community await the lady's arrival with great expectations, and will greet her with a crowded house, as over 100 reserved seats are already secured.

Mr. John Holland, chief builder for the O. S. N. Co., informs me that the new steamboat New Daisy Ainsworth will be ready for the launch in about ten days. She is of fine model and design, and will be a lasting monument of Mr. Holland's abilities. She will immediately take the place of the Idaho as soon as completed.

A BLUE GLASS EXPERIMENT.—Charleston Journal of Commerce. Mr. Blimley read about blue glass until he became a convert to the doctrine. Having a boy baby about three months old, who has been somewhat puny and has given evidence of weak lungs, he had an east window of his house paned with blue glass and exposed him to the sun's rays for an hour or two for several days. Last Sunday being a sunny day, the baby was left under the blue window for three hours, at the conclusion of which time he got up and went down stairs, declaring that he had had enough of that "dog-goned foolishness." On Monday he was exposed for four hours. At 12 o'clock on Monday night he threw his off foot into Mr. Blimley's stomach, and knocked the lower portion of Mrs. Blimley's chin off with his right fist. As Mr. Blimley lay under the washstand, trying to decide whether he had been struck by lightning or was in an Ashtabula disaster, young Blimley set up such a yell that a neighbor next door, who has been howling for war since the 8th of November, went down into his cellar and hid under an empty lone barrel, under the impression that a general insurrection had broken out. As soon as Mr. Blimley recovered sufficiently he procured a hammer and smashed every pane of blue glass he could find. They now keep young Blimley gagged and chained to an anvil.

The Southington (Mass.) Sentinel tells of an interesting and pleasant individual. It says: "There is a man in this town between 50 and 60 years of age, who has steadily worked for his father until the present day; never had a dollar in his pocket, never went to church, a wedding or funeral, never was on a car, never to a party, never spoke to a girl except to ask where her mother was, never had a holiday, and yet had his poll tax abated this year on account of poverty, while his father's estate is estimated at from $30,000 to $50,000."

The wager of battle would be a way of "settling this thing," which could be fortified by the hoariest sort of precedent. Watts and Cronin might answer for appellant and appellee, or J. Madison Wells and Gen. D. D. Field, or Mr. Hewitt and Zachariah Chandler, or Pelton and——well, who would be a proper antagonist for Pelton and his spring suit of plate armor made of dictionaries?

To be beautiful, graceful, healthful and comfortable, wear Dr. Warner's corset, Third street near Morrison.

Afternoon school at Progress Hall for children. All those holding card of invitation to the Soirees will be admitted. Good music.

It is easy enough to rectify whisky, but difficult to rectify the errors which poor whisky causes. Amend the error of your ways by drinking only Noble Whisky, sold by Millard & Vanschuyver, 39 Front street.

The neatest thing out for a schoolboy is "Smith's Scholar's Companion;" price 35 cents. J. K. Gill & Co. sold a gross of them during Christmas week, and have just received another large lot of them.

Dr. Halpruner's RHEUMATIC LINIMENT is a sure cure for RHEUMATISM, SORE THROAT, ACHES, PAINS, CHILBLAINS, etc. It can be had at the Doctor's office until he has it ready for the market. The Doctor will send a bottle by express, or a box of his Salve by postoffice. Price, 50 cents each, expressage extra.

No compromise commission is needed to select the preferred drink of the country as the popular and unanimous vote is for Noble Whisky. Millard & Vanschuyver, sole agents, 39 Front street.

The Singer Manufacturing Co. report their sales for the year 1876 at 202,116 Machines, being an excess of 12,461 machines over their sales of 1875.

NOTICE.

Thou undersigned in taking leave of Portland returns his sincere thanks for the liberal patronage that has been bestowed, and would bespeak for his successors a continuance of the same.

Both DRS. BARBER & NICKLIN, are gentlemen in every way competent and worthy of any confidence that may be placed in them, and as such I can consider it only recommend them to my former friends and patrons. O. H. HATCH.

Why has Sozodont

Become the staple Dentrifice of America? Simply because it is impossible to use it, even for a week, without perceiving its hygienic effect upon the teeth, the gums and the breath.

THE TERRITORIES.

The ground all over Walla Walla valley is covered with nice fresh grass and buttercups.

The general price of admission to Granger balls on the Payette is a green hide. They have gay times in that beautiful valley.

The Boise Statesman says Boise City is steadily growing and improving. Many buildings have been erected during the past season, but they are principally private residences.

Loggers and lumbering men are beginning to figure prominently in Snohomish county. A large amount of work in their line will be performed during the coming summer.

The new Presbyterian church at Port Townsend was dedicated last Sunday. The building is made of stone, is elegantly furnished, and is a credit to Port Townsend.

The Walla Walla Watchman says: Last Sunday night some miscreant robbed us this office of essential and important pieces out of its two presses, rendering the same thereby perfectly useless. The individuals are thoroughly suspicioned.

The Seattle Dispatch of the 10th says: Wm. Marsh, an old resident of Victoria and well known to many of our citizens, went out shooting near that city on Wednesday last and lost his way. All night long he lay in the woods, and when he reached home he was in such an exhausted condition that he died on Thursday morning.

From the Walla Walla Watchman we learn that that city has now six elevated bells. The oldest is the one in the Methodist church; the costliest, that of the Episcopal church, and the best toned is the one in Mr. Chamberlain's church. The Catholic church bell is the most favorably located, and no doubt also the most serviceable, as it has been rung regularly for the past 13 years at 6 o'clock in the morning, at 12 M., and at 6 in the evening.

A correspondent of the Boise Statesman, writing from Warrens, says: "The unprecedented light fall of snow this winter is causing some alarm in the minds of placer miners in this portion of the Territory. Warrens is better supplied with water than most mining camps, but even here it is becoming evident that the supply is going to be light. At the present writing there is very little over a foot of snow here. Work is going on with something like vigor on two quartz ledges here—the Charity and the Bonanza. At the first, Davy, Tippet and Dyer have out 159 tons of ore, of about the same grade as has latterly come out of that ledge; that is to say, about $25 rock, with the probability of getting out 200 tons more before the snow melts to drive them out. On the latter, Chas. Johnson has a force at work, and has out 60 tons, or thereabouts. This is a small ledge, but very uniform, and the quartz seems to be of very good quality. There is some probability that outside capital will take hold of some of our mines in the spring and put them in a condition to pay something, but we are not over sanguine, since hope deferred makes the heart sick."

OREGON.

A chest in the house of A. J. Weatherby, of Burnt River, was broken open on the 23d ult., and some $310 stolen from the same. No clue to the robbers.

Farmers in Jackson county, Oregon, are turning their attention especially to grape culture. The impression of the local papers seems to be that this county will soon rival Sonoma in California.

The Salem Mercury of Monday says: Last Thursday a drayman named Geo. Anderson charged a Chinaman with withholding some blankets which he had taken to the washhouse to have washed and dried. A jury trial was summoned before Recorder Bowle. Several witnesses were examined, and the testimony disclosed the fact that the blankets he claimed to have lost were those used by a small-pox patient, George Bowker, about two months since, and which the city authorities had paid for, besides paying Anderson $1.0 to take them outside the city and destroy them. He took them up Mill creek and deposited them in the stream, and afterward sent a drayman from the other company after them, and had them taken to the wash house to be dried. On several occasions he went to the Chinaman and tried to sell him the blankets, but failed. Last Wednesday evening he, in company with another man, went again to the house to get the blankets, and when they were delivered to him he claimed they were not the same he had left there, and so had the Chinaman arrested. The fact was also disclosed that he had sold a bedstead to James Coffey, having told a very plausible story to account for having it in his possession. The jury, after hearing the evidence, brought in a verdict of not guilty, and the Chinaman was discharged. The law providing that where a suit is brought maliciously, or without good cause, that the complaining witness shall give security for the costs was brought to bear, and this speculator in infected blankets was compelled to pay $60 62 for his avarice.

A Result of Obstructed Digestion.

Among the hurtful consequences of obstructed digestion, is the impoverishment of the blood, and since a deteriative condition of the vital fluid not only produces dangerous organic weakness, but, according to the best medical authorities, sometimes causes asphyxia, it is apparent that to improve the quality of the blood by promoting digestion and assimilation, is a wise precaution. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely the remedy for this purpose, since it stimulates the gastric juices, conquers those bilious and eruptive irregularities which interfere with the digestive processes, promotes assimilation of the food by the blood, and purifies as well as enriches it. The signs of improvement in health in consequence of using the Bitters are speedily apparent in an accession of vigor, a gain in bodily substance, and a regular and active performance of every physical function.

It is a rare thing that physicians give any countenance to a medicine the manufacture of which is a secret. About the only exception we note is Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. This, we believe, all endorse, and many of them use it in their practice with great success.

Persons requiring purgatives or pills should be careful what they buy. Some pills not only cause griping pains, but leave the bowels in a torpid, costive state. Parson's Purgative Pills will relieve the bowels and cleanse the blood without injury to the system.

LYON'S KATHAIRON makes beautiful, glossy, luxuriant hair; prevents its falling out or it ruing gray. It has stood the test of 40 years. Is charmingly perfumed, and has no rival.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM preserves and restores the complexion; removes freckles, tan and sallowness; makes the skin soft, white and delicate. Its application cannot be detected.

READER,

Have you risen from your bed after a short sleep to find yourself nearly suffocated with Catarrhal matter in your nose, head and throat? Have you noticed what a depressing influence it exercises on the mind, blunting its faculties, besides enervating the body as well? How difficult to rid the head of this foul matter all can testify who are afflicted with Catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs and bronchial tubes, all physicians can testify. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief. To be freed from the danger of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to know that no poisonous, morbid matter defiles the breath and undermines the system; to know that the body does not, through the veins and arteries, carry the poison that is sure to destroy, is indeed a blessing. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure. They become incredulous. With such the long array of testimonials from our best citizens, physicians and druggists in favor of

Sanford's Radical Cure

Must convince them that it possesses great merit, while the new and original method of its preparation when studied with the disease satisfies the mind of any reasonable person that its method of cure is the true one.

Sanford's Radical Cure

Sanford's Radical Cure

Allays pain, inflamation, and soreness of the mucous membrane of the nasal passages. It is the most soothing, healing, and grateful preparation ever applied to these inflamed surfaces.

Sanford's Radical Cure

Is also taken internally, where by its action on the blood in eliminating from the system the acrid poison always present in Catarrh, it affects the whole constitution.

Sanford's Radical Cure

Thus becomes a powerful purifying agent in overcoming the poisonous action of the rotten matter that has, during sleep, dropped into the throat and mingled with the contents of the stomach, to be absorbed into the system.

Sanford's Radical Cure

Is a local and constitutional remedy. Its strengthens the system by internal use, while endeavoring to throw off the disease, and soothes and heals the inflamed nasal surfaces by direct application.

Sanford's Radical Cure

Is a great and reliable medicine, and when every other remedy is tried and found wanting this by its immediate beneficial effect, passes at once into favor which it retains forever afterwards.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Gladstone on the Porte.

LONDON, March 13.—Gladstone has published a pamphlet in which he shows the real conduct of the Porte towards the authors of the Bulgarian outrages is an encouragement to a recaition of horrors. The guilt of the Turkish government is fully proved. United Europe should at least impose such restraint upon the Turkish administration as all Europe has declared indispensable. The proposal to grant Turkey a year of grace simply means another year of debasement and misery from Turkish subjects. Gladstone concludes—I ask England to redeem the pledges given by the Crimean war to subjects of Turkey.

English Cabinet Meeting on the Turkish Question.

LONDON, March 13.—To-day will be memorable in the history of the Eastern Question. The cabinet meets to consider the terms of agreement among the powers. It does not contain any engagement to use coercion in any form; the powers will employ their diplomatic influences in favor of reform, which the conference decided necessary, but further than this they will not go. No time is fixed within which the powers are to use their influence or after which they are to consider that their efforts have failed. When the proposal which Lord Derby submits to his colleagues has been accepted by other European powers it is expected Russia will declare herself satisfied, and demobilization will follow in due course. A protocol to be signed by the powers forms an agreement which has found most favor. There has as yet been no outline of a better rule. The condition of people of which were originally the seat of insurrection is pitiable in the extreme. The powers will become once more sureties for the Turkish government, and should they all the end must come at last.

Prisoners Liberated.

A letter to the Times from Pera, March 8th, says that many prisoners arrested for alleged complicity in the plot to murder Midhat Pasha, have been liberated. Kelam Bey, Midhat's Secretary, is still imprisoned, and examined daily by magistrates. The sudden fit of terror which disorganized the whole government and placed the Sovereign at the discretion of a little palace clique, is hereby shown to continue. The Sultan's council is now more than ever haunted by fear of plots.

Murad Effendi.

The prevailing popular idea is that the party strongly attached to Murad Effendi are busily spreading reports of his complete recovery, and claiming his right to restoration. Murad's adherents declare both Turkish and foreign doctors were unanimous that two or three months' repose would completely restore his reason. Their prediction has been fully verified. Murad is now far more fit for the throne than his drunken terror haunted brother, and it is time they should change places.

American Financiers.

ATHENS, March 13.—In the Chamber to-day Prime Minister Delegaris showed the finances to be in a bad state. He said he was not opposed to military preparations, but considered it was necessary. In the budget there was a deficiency of 2,000,000 drachmias, and only 30,000 drachmas remained in the treasury.

Ignatieff's Views.

PARIS, March 13.—The editor of Le Temps had an interview with Gen. Ignatieff. He says Ignatieff declared his mission was to obtain formal sanction to resolutions of the conference. Russia held to their substance, but as regards the form would accept indifferently either the protocol emanating from the Ambassadors or diplomatic instrument signed by Turkey alone, but countersigned by the powers. The protocol, by making manifest the resolve of the powers to see the reforms accomplished, would give the proposals of the conference the form of a positive adjudication. Russia would not grant Turkey more than two months' grace for executing the reforms. When this term expired the powers would no longer be bound to act collectively but would be compelled, in virtue of the protocol, to allow the free exercise of armed intervention by one or several powers. The General continued—our desire for peace is so strong that even if England only partially assists to our views we shall not break off our deliberations but use fresh efforts to obtain concessions. No time, however, must be lost. We cannot leave our army inactive. We must either utilize or prepare to disband it. Gen. Ignatieff said that he was furnished with full powers by his government.

The War Cloud Lifting.

LONDON, March 14.—A Paris correspondent of the Times speaking of the final protocol says hopes to persuade to believe that England will accept the formula, and that in the course of two days a happy solution may be counted on, with some certainty, if the protocol is signed the Turkish army will be immediately paid off, even before the collective resolutions of the powers is officially notified to the Porte.

The Turks will be Crowded.

LONDON, March 13.—The Post's special from Berlin says several papers announce that in consequence of the concessions made by Ignatieff Russia has consented to give Russia's propositions his moral support.

A Berlin dispatch to the Times announces that Germany, Italy, Austria and France support the Russian proposals.

A later dispatch from Berlin to the same paper says France and Russia don't object to the proposals being discussed at a conference to be held in Paris.

The Crisis Arrived.

LONDON, March 13.—The leading editorial of the Times contains the following: "It may be truly said the crisis of the Eastern question has arrived. Never during any phase of the question has a more important communication been addressed by one State to another than that of which Ignatieff and Count Schouvaloff have been the intermediaries. The substance of it is that if Great Britain and other powers will agree to maintain the settlement insisted upon at last conference and urge it upon the Porte Russia will be beaten to accord with them and will demobilize her armies. This communication is now under close consideration by the English government.

Voices for War.

A dispatch dated Constantinople, Sunday, says placards have been posted in Stamboul, calling on the Porte to make war against Russia, and threatening ministers if they make any further concessions to Montenegro.

A correspondent at Pesth asserts that the Austro-Hungarian government accepted Russia's project of European declaration, but merely in its capacity of signatory of the Berlin memorandum. The opinion prevails in Pesth that Russia, despite present negotiations, is determined to make war.

A Berlin correspondent telegraphs that it is said Bismarck agreed to sign the international protocol proposed by Russia.

A Vienna special says it it reported from Cettinje that the Prince of Montenegro has given orders to make every preparation for a commencement of hostilities March 21st if peace be not concluded before the expiration of the armistice.

The Servian government has ordered Colonel Despotovich who was sent during the Servian war to help the insurgents in Bosnia to return to Servia. Despotovich declares an intention of keeping up the insurrection.

Russo-German Amity.

The Paris Liberte professes to have advices of the most authentic character showing the intimate relations between Russia and Germany.

Judge Mackey has been addressing meetings in South Carolina on the political situation. At one of these General Kershaw, late of the Confederate army, is reported to have said: "Even though the dearest wish of our hearts be defeated by the failure of Mr. Tilden to be declared President, I shall have full faith that, with Hayes as the President of the United States, justice will be done throughout the whole land, and glory and honor and peace will crown our country through his wise and benign administration of its government; and as to the question of his title to the Presidency, I shall await the judgment of the high electoral commission now sitting at Washington as final and authoritative upon all the issues involved in the great and perplexing problem which it has been assembled to solve."

BREAD OR THE GOSPEL.

In one of Mr. Moody's sermons in Boston he thus discussed a proposition which has elicited no little thought of late:

People talk and say it would be better to give people bread than the Gospel. That is one of the devil's lies, and I would like to drive it back to hell where it came from. A few years ago in Chicago people said if I could only relieve the temporal wants of the poor I could easily convert them. Well, we tried the plan of giving them bread, and they came in by thousands. I found they went for bread and let the Gospel go. I got a great many hypocrites around me. They say that the money used in this revival would buy a great many cords of wood and tons of coal. A few days ago a man sent me a clipping from a newspaper, saying it was a great waste of money to put up this building, when it might be much better used to supply the wants of the poor. My friends, the poor want the kingdom of God, and after they get that there will be no more trouble about their other wants. Get first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added. God takes care of the sparrows, don't he? The very hairs of our head are numbered. But men want to make a bargain with the Lord. A man came to me the other day who was very anxious to become a Christian if he could only get something to do. He wanted to make a bargain with the Lord. Now we are to come to the Lord and make no bargain. If the kingdom of God is set up in our hearts there will be no trouble about our coming to want. For years in Chicago I visited the poor, and I want to say that I never found yet the consistent Christian who went to the poor house. I never have found yet any consistent Christian, a member of any church, who was really starving or whose children were coming to want.

Men don't seek first the kingdom of God. After the Chicago fire we had about a thousand boxes of clothing sent out from New England; some of it was pretty old clothing, and I couldn't help but be amused to see the crowds flock in after those old clothes, and many of them from parts of the city where they hadn't been burned out. The police could hardly keep them back while they were being given away. You just give out old clothes here and see how the people will flock. But tell them how the Gospel is given to them, tell them how they may be saved for time and eternity, and they will just laugh at you. That is the trouble; men don't follow the kingdom of God; they trample it under foot.

The monetary situation in local matters is unchanged, there being a generally prevalent belief that before any important revival of activity in financial affairs on this coast can take place, there must be a submission to lower rates on the part of capitalists. Of course such a concession will not be made without strenuous opposition, but the abundant supply of idle funds in most of the great money centers, amounting in many instances to an absolute plethora, and the increasing intimacy of our commercial and general business relations with the outside world have a tendency to make such an equalized condition more probable here and to bring it nearer as time passes. In London, Frankfort and other European cities, rates are unusually low, and the same fact is remarked in the Atlantic coast cities of our own country, only perhaps to a less degree. This, in the opinion of business men must bring about a large supply, and consequent lower rates on the Pacific coast, where they have heretofore been perversibly high.

All business men have recognized the inconvenience to the trade, of that anomalous coin known as the trade dollar and have desired some change in the laws regulating its value. The San Francisco Chronicle on this subject, says:

The fact that American trade dollars are not a legal tender in Hongkong interferes unjustly with the demand for them here, for while in that market Mexican dollars are taken by weight at the rate of 717 "tahil teels per $1,000, and consequently the Mexican dollar, weighing 416 grains Troy, circulates at par, the trade dollar, which weighs 420 grains Troy, is only taken at par "by count," and gains no advantage from its containing about ¾ of 1 per cent more silver than its Mexican rival. Mexican dollars usually command in China a premium of ½ to 1 per cent over worn or mutilated coins, which are nevertheless legal tender by weight at the rate above quoted, and until lately the trade dollar also commanded a premium, but recent advices state that this is no longer the case. Our trade dollar, as its name implies, being specially intended for the Asiatic transactions, it would seem expedient for the government to take such action as would promote its circulation upon fair terms in the countries with which we deal.

Trade Matters.

There is nothing special in any department of local trade to-day calling for extended comment. The unusually high stage of water has checked the pis de of domestic produce from the interior, and for some articles of a perishable character and which are supplied to the market from day to day, there is a slightly increasing inquiry. In staple products there is but little doing and prices have undergone no change whatever since our last report.
